THE INTERVIEWING NUISANCE.

"Harper's Magazine" for June enters a vigorous protest against the growing impertinence and indecency of the sensational "interviewing" nuisance, and the gross abuses of the reporter's office in trying to intrude into private affairs. It cites the case of the illness of General Grant, in which the very cough of the invalid has been forced upon the public, and the deep sympathy of the people for a great man's sufferings outraged by the most rude exposure of the domestic agonies of the General's family. It is time the managers of the decent press entered upon a reform of this whole "interviewing" business. Now and then the interview is proper enough—but the cases are rare. It has fallen into every low state, and no public man is safe from its misrepresentations and contorted reports. We recently cited a case in San Francisco, where the reporter of a sensational morning newspaper pried his way into the home of a citizen and endeavored to wring from the parent the details of his daughter's supposed engagement with a popular singer, who was said to have broken faith with the lady. If true, it was the concern of no one but those immediately interested; if false, the parties related to it were the only proper persons to give it publicity. In any event it was no business of the newspaper, any more than the inquiry as to what grade of sugar the lady used in her tea. "Harper's" cites a case where the interviewing trespasser, by chicanery, gained what honesty could never have effected. An apparently modest and poor young woman called upon a lady of high literary attainments for advice as to literary culture. In the kindness of her heart the experienced woman counseled the novice (?) and in the conversation various authors and their styles were criticized, but with no unkindness. What was the lady's astonishment to find in the next day's paper what purported to be a full account of her views of leading writers of the day, in which the most of them were abused, ridiculed and "picked to pieces?" The whole report was a willful misrepresentation, and assailed some of the most esteemed literary friends of the lady. This was nothing less than a moral crime, and should be a criminal act in law. The papers that will descend to such cutthroat methods of making their columns "sensational" deserve to be publicly hissed. It is to be regretted that the editor of "Harper's" fails to name the particular sheet in question. But that case has been paralleled by others, and probably will be equaled by still new instances of the indecency and untruth of "sensational interviewing." Let us hope that some day newspapers will far so forget rivalry as to enter upon the plane of a common agreement to put an end once and for all to the sensational interview.

The Eastern press is discussing the wisdom of negotiating for a new extradition treaty with Great Britain. There seems to us but one side to the question. Extradition agreement with that Government needs to be greatly broadened. The flight into Canada is too easy of accomplishment, and the protection the Dominion affords to thieves and the like is too great. It is difficult to see why there should be any considerable restriction whatever. The crimes recognized by the laws of the two countries are almost identical, and so far as they are of strong resemblance why not permit the return of those violating the law in one country and escaping to the other?

The colored men of Boston have voted the President thanks for his action in the case of Meade, the Hazlehurst buccaneer. But why not an official for doing his simple duty? Why not reward him for having failed to do in the first instance, when he appointed Meade to place?

The farce of the plea of insanity is now to be played for the benefit of the rebel Riel.

CONTEMPORARY EXPRESSION.

It is one of the profoundest boshes of Washington that its outfit of public school buildings is better than that of the State of California, or even of the Washington National Republican.

In a year from now, if occasion requires, as we think it will, we will try to tel in very short order and in very plain English what we think of any schemer or ringer who tries to work up a room against George F. Edmunds.—[Brattie, F. O. Phoenix.]

The American Turf.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY (N. Y.), June 16th.—This is undoubtedly the hottest day of the Adirondack summer, as the thermometer stands from 90° to 100° at Sheepshead ad today. The Tidal stakes being the magnet which drew the biggest attendance of the season. The grand stand filled with ladies and gentlemen dressed for a society backdrop to the green swan in front. For some unknown reason the majority of Eastern sporting men have formed the opinion that Tyrant has made his Water-loo in Boston. At the racing reports and the racing going to the track, Tyrant was everybody's topic. Tyrant would be beaten to-day, and the first tip was passed around to put money on Kilton's colt Partner. This opinion seems to have come to mind with the bookmakers, and book-makers' Hill marked up California as winner $25 to $100. ## LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

SAD ACCIDENT AT COURTLAND.—A dispatch received from Courtland last evening states that E. H. Fitter and his two sons were drowned in the Sacramento river about a mile above that place yesterday afternoon. It seems that they were building a platform to enable them to dip water from the river, which was very deep and was flowing to some posts which had been driven. As they needed another board to complete the platform, Mr. Fitter called the boys to hold on to the posts while he went to town for a nail. The two boys, in order to please their mother, who was sitting on the bank, began jumping around in the water, and, letting go the posts, were carried by the current into deep water. They soon became exhausted and began calling for help. Mr. Fitter, hearing their cries, came running down from the house, and, seeing the boys struggling in the water, plunged in and tried to save them, but being unable to do so. All three were drowned before assistance arrived. Mr. Fitter's body was recovered soon after. It was found about ten feet from the shore. The boys' bodies have not been found as yet, although every effort has been made. Mr. Fitter, after arriving at Courtland from San Francisco, with his family on Monday, intending to spend a few weeks in the vicinity. He was an old resident of San Francisco, and owned a house on the corner of 12th and Jackson streets. He was about 55 years of age. The boys were aged respectively 12 and 14 years. There remain to the mother, the loss of her wife and mother, and by three daughters. Coroner Clark held an inquest on the body of Mr. Fitter last night.

WHEN A WOMAN WILL,—Yesterday afternoon, before the departure of the 2:30 train for San Francisco, the attention of people at the depot was attracted by a dispute between a mother and daughter, the latter having gone there prepared to leave for the Bay, to which her mother objects, declaring "You can't go!" A Mrs. Pennington, who had been away a day or two, and who was going down on the same train, was pointed out by some one as being the young woman's traveling companion. She refused to give any information as to the fact, and nothing was said by mother or daughter relative to there being a man in the case. The mother applied to officer Sullivan to take the girl to the station, and he endeavored to persuade the girl to give up her idea, but his efforts very quickly upon her remarking "I am 21 years of age, and by— I am going!" The officer responded, "That's all right; I guess you are going." The girl, however, got up from him, and her mother, getting in front of her, endeavored to prevent her; but she pushed resolutely by and took a seat by herself in one of the cars. Her mother went into the station, and as she was going out for a walk, was met by a police larceny in appropriating some skirts, but finally was persuaded to drop the matter, as it was evident the girl was determined to leave. The police, however, only left the effect of driving the woman, and the police before the public. It is said that the girl left home once before, when she was not of age.

TWENTY TO ONE.—The "Butterfly Dudes" have not been very communicative since their return, upon the subject of the game of baseball played at Woodland last Sunday between the "Strictly Business" Club of that place. And no wonder! They play five games, in second division, in which which wins, and a team which loses, is not good enough to win. The "Butterfly Dudes" won the game, and the Woodland boys seem to have had luck in their attempts to get away with the honors in their contests with the "Strictly Business" Club. The game City Trophy, Mr. Marsh, and Mr. Schrotz are invited to present and produce the watchman at the mill and all other information they have.

THE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.—A special meeting of the Society Board of Education was held yesterday at the school, and the members present. The object of the meeting was to agree upon a plan for the new school-house to be located at the corner of Tenth and P streets. Mr. Seader submitted a plan for a ten-room building, which was adopted. On motion of Mr. Seader, it was voted to employ him to formally prepare the necessary plans and specifications, and submit them to the Board at its next regular meeting, the 29th instant, for adoption. Mr. Seader, upon motion of Mr. State, authorized to advertise for bids for construction of the building, said bids to be opened at 7:30 p.m., June 29th, the Board reserving the right to reject any and all bids. Each bid will be for one room, and is proposed to provide pork and beans, coffee, etc., for all who attend. The price of admission will be 50 cents, and will include the above-mentioned refreshments and the services of the organist. Catlin, on the same side. Judge Benson had commenced the examination of the defendant for the prosecution, but had not finished when the Court adjourned for the day.
